I am a new XM subscriber and unless local radio stations get with the program (such as playing more than just 10-15 songs over and over and cutting down on commercials and annoying DJ's) I for one, will never go back. The value of America's economy is that it is based on innovation and free market enterprise. I feel very strongly that traditional radio needs MORE competition to make it better than what it has become. For that reason I strongly urge you to allow satellite radio stations to offer local weather and traffic, after all, this is still a free country.

Thank you, Christine Campbell
